

Santa to Arrive Saturday

10 a.m. Parade to Open Yule Season

News and Views . . .

and what have you

by BOB CRAIG

Several people have asked me, and probably have been wondering, why the Herald has not printed the squad picture of the Piper football team since they won the right to represent the district in the state playoffs.

We were a victim of circumstances in this case. The paper at Quanah called me the Saturday after we defeated Stamford and wanted to exchange an engraving of the Hamlin team for an engraving of the Quanah team which we were glad to do in the hopes that this might help create interest in the bi-district game played here.

When we tried to get a picture of the team at school to have another engraving made to use here that week we found that the only picture they had, had been sent to the annual company.

Since we didn't have a picture of the team to use and our engraving of the team has not been returned to us as yet we just have not found any solution for the problem.

This past football season has been the most profitable season in the history of Hamlin High School in regards to the money received by the school on gate receipts, according to C. F. Cook, superintendent.

The ten game season netted the school $7,046.19 and the bi-district game with Quanah brought in an additional $1,766.75, resulting in a grand total of $8,812.94.

The income by games was as follows: Cisco, $560.85; Seagraves, $500.00; Merkel, $342.47; Rotan, $639.55; Winters, $546.30; Childress, $739.67; Anson, $1,264.55; Haskell, $910.35; Spur, $312.55; Stamford, $917.30; and B games, $316.60.

The attendance at the Quanah game was 2,750 with a total gate of $4,061.50. From this amount was deducted $223.76 for officials and $304.61 to the University Interscholastic League (7 1/2 per cent of the gross gate of all playoff games. This left $3,533.13 to be divided between the two teams.

The time is fast approaching for all youngsters to take on that glow and excitement that can only be caused by the coming of Christmas.

The Hamlin merchants, through the BCD, are bringing Santa to town Saturday morning so that all of the little ones of this area will have an opportunity to visit with him. This year he will visit in the local stores each Saturday between now and Christmas so that every child will have a chance to tell him what they want for Christmas. He will have candy for all of the youngsters.

Bring your kids to town Saturday morning in time for the 10 o'clock parade and let them see and visit with Santa.

TO ARRIVE SATURDAY MORNING

Friday Last Day to Sign Up for Wheat Support

Producers of winter wheat have until Friday of this week to sign up for participation in the 1962 Wheat Stabilization Program. Unless producers sign up in this program and participate, they will not be eligible for price support on their 1962 wheat crop.

This reminder was issued by J. Noel Weaver, Chairman, Jones County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. It was prompted by the belief that many farmers feel that they are automatically eligible for price support if they plant within their 1962 allotment.

Out of a total of 1200 winter wheat producers in the county who have 1962 allotments, only 650, or 54 percent of them had signed up by November 22nd to participate in the 1962 Wheat Stabilization Program.

"This indicates to us that a lot of farmers do not understand that they must sign up in order to participate in the wheat stabilization program, and that they must participate in order to be eligible for price support on their 1962 crop," the Chairman said.

He explained that the misunderstanding may arise from the fact that in previous years a farmer who planted or harvested within his allotment was eligible for price support. Under the 1962 program this is not true. The 1962 program requires him not only to comply with his allotment, but also to sign up and participate in the wheat stabilization program in order to be eligible for price support on his 1962 crop of wheat.

Farmers who want price support must file an "intention-to-participate" form—available at the County ASCS Office—and they must designate, at the time of measurement, the acreage they are going to divert from the production of wheat.

On the larger farms generally, such diversion is computed from what the farm allotment would have been if there had been no statutory 10-per cent reduction in acreage allotments. Each farmer with an allotment has the choice of taking only the minimum 10-per cent reduction, or he may divert up to an additional 30 per cent. Special provisions for small farms permit up to 10 acres reduction, depending on the farm's wheat acreage in 1959, 1960 and 1961.

Payments may be earned by putting the diverted acres into approved conservation uses. Two rates of payment will be in effect—a lower rate for the minimum diversion, and a higher rate for additional acres diverted. Chairman Weaver said the ASCS is encouraging farmers to sign up for the maximum diversion. He listed six reasons why such additional diversion is attractive to producers:

1. It is financially attractive. Producers will earn higher rates of payment for diverting more than the minimum acreage.
2. It offers a form of income insurance in the form of protection against loss of crop due to drought, insects, hail, flood or other natural disaster.
3. It puts money into the hands of producers right away. Growers who divert acreage from production under the 1962 program may receive advance payment at the sign-up.
4. It can be a money saver. If a farmer uses borrowed money by borrowing less than he would otherwise have had to borrow if he planted and harvested wheat on his entire allotment.

5. It improves cropland. By carrying out approved conservation practices on his diverted acres, the producer maintains and improves the farm's productivity capacity for the future when it may be needed. Also, the land value is safeguarded for the farmer and his family, and for heirs and for consumers generally in the future.

6. It helps the Government reduce the cost of farm programs. It is a personal contribution on the part of the wheat producer toward bringing national wheat production more nearly into line with consumer demands.

FISHER COUNTY FARMERS UNITE TO FIGHT SCREWORM

The animal health situation in Fisher County and Texas is getting major attention. The screwworm, a pest causing an estimated annual loss of one hundred million dollars, is a primary target.

In a recent meeting initiated by County Agent James S. Norman, and Vocational Agriculture Teachers Bill Robinson, Ray Womack and Jimmy Laurie and attended by a group of livestock producers and others concerned with animal health decided to organize and support a state-wide effort.

Dave Posey was elected as chairman and James Cave, secretary-treasurer. Other members of the county committee are Roger Smith, Bob Williams, Richard Floyd, M. W. Strickland, Jack Willingham, Sterling Willingham and Glen Webb. The group will support the recently formed Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation in its drive to do something about the animal health situation. Its purposes are to receive and disburse funds, and sponsor research and educational programs on animal health-including diseases, insects and parasites—to the end that these hazards of livestock production may eventually be controlled.

"Animal health," Chairman Posey said, "is not only a concern of the producer but the economic loss also affects business and consumers. We all have a lot at stake in this program."

The Foundation's first major effort will be a program aimed at controlling the screwworm. The proposed program is patterned after the successful drive in Florida and the Southeast. The P. S. Department of Agriculture, livestock producers, and the State of Florida teamed up to just about remove the pest from the scene. The method used was based on the release of sterile male screwworm flies over the State which resulted in the production of infertile eggs and almost complete elimination of the fly population.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT WARNS AGAINST CARBON MONOXIDE

AUSTIN—Each winter brings its toll of deaths and serious accidents from carbon monoxide a potential killer gas loosed into every home when fire is used for cooking or to dull the chill edge of weather.

State Health Department records show that for each of the past four years the lethal mixture has killed an average of 28 Texans in mishaps at home, in automobiles, and in industrial plants and public buildings.

So insidious is the gas that by the time a victim is aware that he is being poisoned, he may be only a few seconds away from unconsciousness when he will be unable to help himself.

Health and safety officials at all levels unanimously urge that extreme precautions be taken to safeguard against carbon monoxide particularly during winter months when windows are closed in homes and automobiles.

Says Dr. J. E. Peavy, Texas commissioner of health: "Prevention is the key word when dealing with carbon monoxide."

The burning of any fuel containing carbon can produce carbon monoxide if there isn't enough air for the fuel to burn completely. This is true of solid fuels such as coal and coke and wood. It is true of liquid fuels such as oil, gasoline and kerosene. It is true of gaseous fuels such as natural, butane or propane gases.

Basic precautions everyone should take to minimize dangers of accidental carbon monoxide poisoning should include a thorough inspection of gas-burning appliances in homes, office and industrial buildings. The inspection should be made by a specialist in gas-burning equipment.

Safety experts consider it to be a fundamental rule that a car should never be started in a closed garage, since lethal quantities of carbon monoxide can be built up in two or three minutes when a car is "warmed up." Too, ample quantities of fresh air should always be provided inside the car whenever the engine is running. Exhaust systems of cars should be checked for holes or leaky fittings prior to the winter driving season.

You can't see, taste or smell carbon monoxide, so don't depend on those human senses to give you a warning.

FAIRVIEW NEWS--

By MRS. ELMER JOINER

Beautiful weather has prevailed over Texas through the Thanksgiving weekend, which has been wonderful for ball games, visiting, and other activities participated in by both young and old. Most of the residents out our way spent the holidays visiting or entertaining visitors.

The Fairview Church celebrated Thanksgiving with a get together at the oil mill guest house in Hamlin, last Wednesday night. A program was presented, suitable for the occasion, consisting of a devotion by Roy Watts, a talk on stewardship by Woodrow Goodwin, a quartet sang "Count Your Blessings," and two ladies gave a skit on "White Lies." Since it was Thanksgiving, the ladies carried basket of food.

Mrs. Woodrow Goodwin and Mrs. Elmer Joiner went to Anson last Tuesday and attended The Rural Church Achievement Clinic, held in the educational building of the First Baptist Church. Attendance was down some from previous years, but a very inspiring report was given from pastors of the district of the help that this program has been to the smaller churches.

Several visitors were present in church Sunday, who are always welcome. With Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Gray were their daughters family, the Marvin Johnsons from Amarillo, that had spent the holidays with them and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Johnson of Hamlin. Bill Goodman of Hamlin, attended with his cousins, the Jack Wrights, Mr. Bill Kelly had his daughter, Mrs. Pat Meek and her little daughter with him. Then Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rosenbaum were happy to have their son, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rosenbaum, Pampa, as visitors with them.

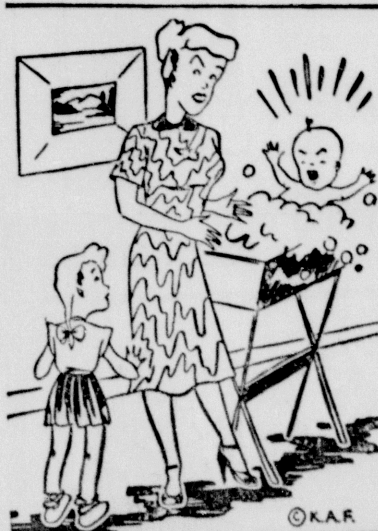

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Jones went to Sweetwater last Thursday to visit their son, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones and boys. They report that Bill, a highway patrolman in Sweetwater, is moving next week to Sherman, where he will be on duty in that vicinity.

We were sorry to learn of the death last week of Harold Valliant's father in Anson. Mr. Valliant lived in the Plainview community before moving to Anson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Holmes of Midland, spent two days and nights with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Flavel Holmes. On Thanksgiving Day, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright and Melinda, were with them too, which completed their family for the big eats.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

THE VIEWERS HAVE HAD IT

Dear Amy: This past summer, my husband and I took a wonderful vacation and took hundreds of feet of motion pictures. He then had them professionally edited and made into a full length feature with subtitles, etc.

All our friends have seen them by now but as soon as any of them set foot inside the door, he reaches for the projector and subjects them to the torment of seeing them again and again. I know they are bored but I haven't said anything to them or him.

Before I lose all my friends, Amy, what can I do?

Bored Too

Dear Bored: Project yourself. A little editing of your husband's enthusiasm will prevent any future 'reel' trouble.

Dear Amy: I guess I'm just a good natured dope who can't say 'no.' Because I can't say no, I get my husband involved in handyman jobs for the family and neighbors.

When they visit me and see all the improvements he's made in our home, they never fail to ask me if he would do little jobs for them. I know I shouldn't say okay, but 'that's me all over.' When he comes home from work and I tell him of the odd jobs I promised he'd do, he's ready to hit the ceiling.

I tell him and myself I won't involve him again, but 'good natured' me, I do. How can I handle situations like this in the future?

Good Natured

Dear Good: It's fine to be a good Samaritan, if YOU'RE ready and able to do what you promise. But to involve your husband because you can't say 'no' is unfair after he puts in a hard day's work.

The next time you feel 'good natured,' speak for yourself, Ma'am, and let hubby do likewise.

Dear Amy: I'm 16 years old. Three weeks ago I was married. I've kept it a secret from my parents because I'm too scared to tell them—but his parents know about it.

Several Teachers Finish Foursquare Training Course

Those completing the course are A. N. King, L. L. Skaggs, Ronald Kenneady, Ernest (Bud) Lee, Mrs. Mary Hollis, Mrs. Lela May Tabb, Mrs. Lota McDaniel, Mrs. Mollie Lee, Mrs. Neoma Bailey, Mrs. Marie Skaggs, Mrs. Cassie Grubb, Miss Wanda Smart, Miss Phyllis Hollis, and Mrs. Jesyeann Tabb. The pastor, of the church, Rev. Spencer L. Liles, was the instructor.

LOCAL BUSINESS . . .

S. S. Talbert, Ph. D. Chairman, Dept. of Journalism University of Mississippi

The world's largest General Motors dealer is the young multi-millionaire Dumas Milner, who maintains headquarters in Jackson, Miss.

Mr. Milner's entire fortune has been built during the past fifteen years.

The Milner Enterprises which now spend many types of operations—service, retail, and industrial—were not built on luck.

Mr. Milner recently told a group of sales executives: "It has been advertising all the way."

It was advertising with imagination and courage which made Mr. Milner a fantastically successful business man—made it possible for him to build small industrial concerns into large national companies, and made it possible for him to sell automobiles when other dealers were going out of business.

In 1957, for instance, the automobile retail business, descended to a post-war low. It was a period which some automobile manufacturers forgot the basic rule of selling: "All business is local." Advertising had been moved from the local newspapers to national and metropolitan media. The result was almost inevitable. The grass-roots public stopped buying automobiles when local advertising disappeared.

However, people did continue to buy automobiles from Milner dealerships and the Milner companies continued to make profits. Mr. Milner did not forget that the final sales of an automobile had to be effected locally and that local advertising media were essential for moving people from their homes to the dealer. He did not gamble his stake on national advertising. His companies turned to the local newspapers with increasing emphasis, making use of hard-selling full-page advertisements.

And even in 1957, the newspaper advertising, accomplished what it had done in previous years. It continued to sell Chevrolets.

Time to Spray Peach Trees Says County Agent

It is about time to spray peach trees to control bacteria spot, according to County Agent, Kirby Clayton. The chemicals should be applied soon after the first killing frost.

Disease symptoms appear on leaves in the spring as pale green spots that soon turn dark. Frequently, the diseased tissue tears away from the healthy part, giving a "shot hole" effect. Leaf infection causes serious loss of leaves. This weakens the tree and makes it more susceptible to other diseases.

Fruit is also affected. The affected peaches bear small, circular sunken spot which later crack. These cracks provide another place of entry for the brown spot organism.

Clayton suggests applying four pounds of copper sulfate to 100 gallons of water followed the same day by a spray containing 4 pounds of hydrated lime in 100 gallons of water. The second spray is essential in order to neutralize the effect of the copper on the tree.

GOV. DANIEL URGES OBSERVING SAFETY SUNDAY, DECEMBER 10

Sunday, December 10, has been designated by Governor Price Daniel as "Safety Sunday" to mark the opening of the annual Statewide Christmas-New Year's traffic safety campaign.

In a special proclamation the Governor said that "experience . . . indicates that the solution to the traffic problem lies in the hands of the individual driver," and urged all citizens "to join in a united effort to awaken the conscience of every driver."

The Governor urged pastors of all Texas churches to "re-mind their members of their personal and moral responsibility to drive carefully, obey the traffic laws and to protect the sanctity of human life in our State."

"Safety Sunday" has been observed by a steadily increasing number of Texas churches and church organizations since it was first proclaimed by Governor Daniel in 1958.

The idea originated with the Safety Committee of the McAllen Rotary Club and the Mc-

Allen Chamber of Commerce in 1958, both headed at that time by a McAllen civic and traffic safety leader, L. D. (Hoot) Harris. At his suggestions, the Governor designated the annual "Safety Sunday" on the second Sunday before Christmas in each subsequent year.

The special Statewide proclamation was requested by J. Lloyd Evans of Dallas, State vice-president for religious activities of the Texas Safety Association. This year, Mr. Evans will formally present the Governor's proclamation at a series of regional conferences on "Religion and Traffic Safety" to be held in Abilene, Midland, Lubbock and Amarillo. The Association and the Governor's Highway Safety Commission will make a Statewide effort to secure the cooperation of as many Texas churches and pastors as possible.

"Safety Sunday" is an important phase of year-end campaign designed to hold the 1961 Texas traffic death toll below the tentative estimate

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Enjoy Your Children While You Can

Dear Amy:

I read your column containing the story about skinny heels and the damage they did to a woman's rugs. It brought to mind my rug problem (of a different nature).

My home is always open to my teen-age son and his friends and I always thought that the same courtesy was accorded him by the parents of his friends. But much to my surprise I found out differently. My son told me that the home of one of his friends had recently been furnished with white carpeting and that none of the boys were permitted in that house. In fact, the mother suggested that my home be used as the hangout since my rugs are dark brown and won't show the dirt!

I have half a mind to keep this boy out of my house but I don't want to interfere with my son and his friends.

Burned Up

Dear Burned:

The years when you can enjoy a house full of teen-agers are too few and fly by too quickly. When the boys go off to college—or to their Uncle Sam—have the rugs cleaned. You will have wonderful memories until they return and all the other mother will have . . . are her white carpets.

Dear Amy:

My problem is quite common I suppose. I have been going with the same girl for two years now. She broke up with me because she felt I wasn't behaving myself as a young man should. We were becoming too close in many ways. How can I make her see I love her very much and that I can and will act like a gentleman?

Too Late

Dear Late:

There's still time. But don't tell me, boy, tell her. This time don't say what you mean, mean what you say!

Dear Amy:

Last week my wife, son and I went out for dinner. Seated nearby was a group of men and all of a sudden one of them said in a loud voice to my wife, "Why, hello there. I didn't recognize you with clothes on!"

Well, needless to say, every-head within hearing distance turned around to look. If there was a hole in the floor, I would have fallen in. My wife blushed and my son laughed. I rushed the family through their meal and when I got them outside, I lost my temper and demanded an explanation. The answer was that he was a daily visitor at the lake near our home last summer and had gotten to know my wife and son quite well. They knew him but I had never met him.

Then my wife let me have it for displaying such a suspicious nature. We haven't spoken since. Amy, didn't I have a right to an explanation?

Leon

Dear Leon:

You did! Had your wife thought quickly, she could have cleared up this embarrassing situation by introducing you to the man and explaining his remark immediately.

Circumstances alter facts. Now apologize.

Dear Amy:

I have a problem that needs prompt attention, please. I'm being married soon and I need help. My parents are divorced. I live with my father and he is paying for my wedding. My mother hasn't done anything for anyone in the family except to bribe us with money and cheap gifts.

Do you think I should invite her to my wedding? I know my father would be hurt if I did and my mother would be hurt if I didn't. I love my father very much and I also have some feelings toward my mother.

Give me an answer if you can

Puzzled

Dear Puzzled:

Out of respect for both of your parents, it's your duty as their daughter to extend an invitation to both. Tell your father how you feel. If he loves you, he will understand and put aside his personal feelings for one day . . . for your happiness.

National Learn To Bowl Program Starting Now At Stamford Lanes

A series of five bowling lessons are being offered to the public by Stamford Lanes beginning January 4, 1962 during a national learn to bowl program. The five week instruction period will be the biggest mass education program in bowling in all-sports history.

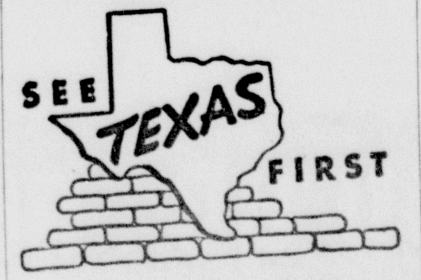

Special classes have been planned for seniors, teenagers, men, and women with each series of classes offering personal instruction to all. All necessary equipment will be available at the bowling center. The program has been prepared upon the advice of a 115-person advisory staff of champions.

"We have given a number of special one-day clinics" Jim Cole said, "but this series of classes is something entirely new to bowling." "We feel it is much more valuable than the single period of instruction because it is hard to retain all of the tips presented at one time. By breaking down the bowling instruction into basic steps and giving people an opportunity to develop each skill before proceeding to the next, we can build bowlers who will compete well in regular league play," he said. The five lessons cover:

1. Etiquette on the lanes. The psychological approach to bowling, principals of the game. The ball grip, and release.
2. The approach. Spot bowling. Pin bowling. Scoring.
3. Arm-swing coordinated with footwork. The follow through.
4. The hook ball. The straight ball. How to bowl strikes. How to make spares.
5. Summary of lessons and how to continue improving.

All free classes at Stamford Lanes will begin January 4, 1962. Women will be instructed Tuesdays and Thursdays at 9:30 a.m. Junior classes will be held Saturdays at 9:00 a.m. Instructions for men is scheduled for Tuesdays at 7:00 p.m. Senior bowlers—both men and women—will receive special instruction on Thursdays at 3:00 p.m.

Each lesson will last about an hour and will include a free game of bowling to enable students to put the instruction into practice. Registration for classes can be made by calling PR 3-4011 before January 4, 1962. (adv.)

Buffalo Clover Festival

Buffalo Clover is what the old settlers called it. Now it's known as the state flower of Texas.

Most likely you prefer the modern name of this beautiful lupine plant for it does look more like what it is now called . . . the bluebonnet.

You haven't seen much of Texas either if you haven't seen the fields of sky-blue bluebonnets.

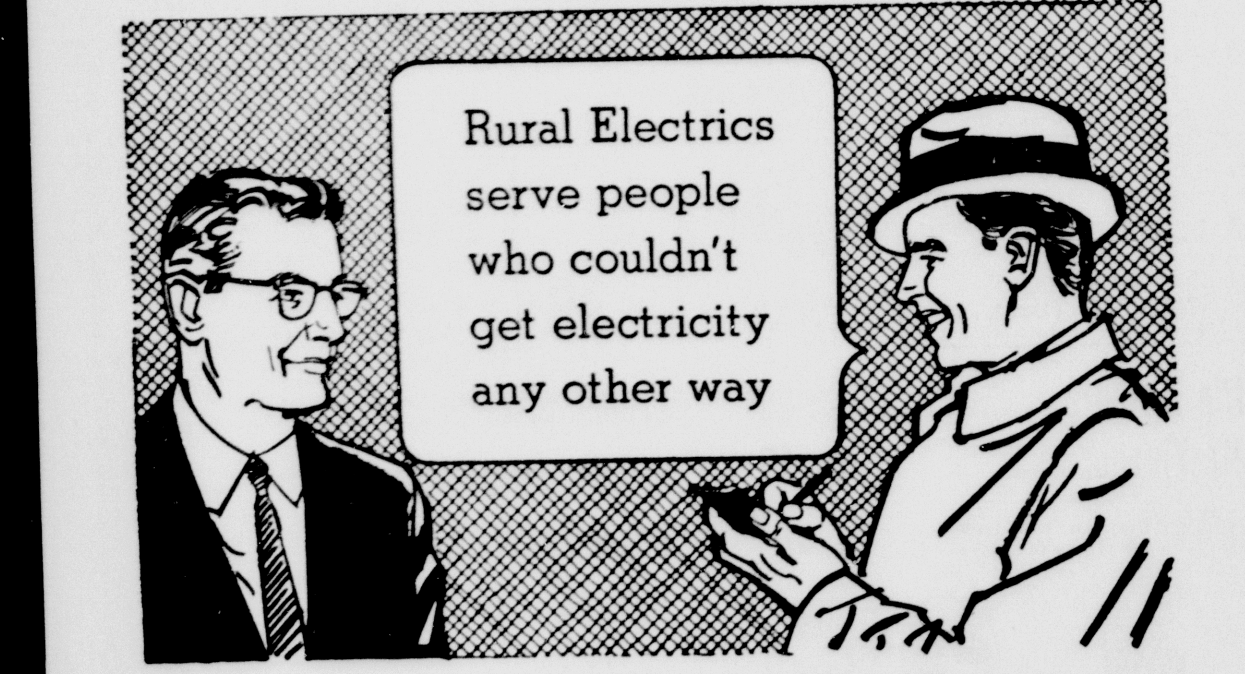

Every April the town of Marlin in Central Texas (Falls County) holds a "Bluebonnet Festival." Beautiful models are provided to pose for the amateur photographers who travel from all over the nation to see the festival and to compete in the annual photo contest.

Hot Brings Cold

Hot water heaters are used to cool water in Smiley, Texas. Sounds outlandish to say the least, doesn't it?

This happy sounding town in Gonzales County, in the central part of South Texas, has a powerful artesian well that pours forth its own hot water. The town of Smiley pipes this hot water right into the homes. These fortunate Texans have all the hot water they need. But the residents use hot water tanks, not connected for heating purposes, to store the water long enough for it to cool for drinking purposes.

FACT or FABLE (Test your current event I.Q.)

☐ True ☐ False

The Fable

Some people claim rural electrics are unnecessary! They say that profit-power companies are willing and able to serve rural America with electricity.

The Facts

Today, it's non-profit electric systems who are striving to bring power to the approximately one million "forgotten folks" still without electricity.

From the start, America's Rural Electrics have been dedicated to serving everyone—large and small, near or far—with electricity at the lowest possible cost. In the past 26 years, nearly 1,000 locally owned rural electrics have built 1½ million miles of line to serve 17 million people in rural America.

No wonder 86 per cent of the thought leaders, surveyed in a recent nation-wide opinion poll, voted that serving people who could get electricity in no other way is an important achievement of America's Rural Electric Systems.

MIDWEST ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC.

We're dedicated to bringing electricity to rural people everywhere at the lowest possible cost!

Mac Cade Rated Top Candidate At Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — Two players standing 6-8 or better are among the leading candidates for Texas Tech's 1961-62 freshman basketball team.

Mac Cade, all-regional center last year with Hamlin Pied Pipers, is the 6-9 performer. Just an inch shorter is Harold Denney, who earned all-district honors for Amarillo High School.

With Cade and Denney in the thick of the scrap for starting berths on Coach Charlie Lynch's Peador squad are 6-2 John David Loftin of Tulsa, all-state and a member of the Texas High School All-Stars; 6-5 Glen Hallum of Brownwood, second team all-state; 6-0 Jay Walling of Waurika, Okla., alternate all-state; 6-5 Joe Carroll Fox of Gainesville all-state honorable mention; and 6-1 Royce Woolard of Midland, all-district.

Texas Tech's freshman schedule hasn't been announced, but the Peadors will open Dec. 4 at 6 p.m. before the varsity's contest here with the University of Colorado.

In the winter of 1955-1956, Mt. Rainier, Washington, recorded just over a thousand inches of snowfall.

A sudden, rapid rise in the barometer can cause ringing in the ears.

Teen-Agers Add Lively Lift To New March of Dimes Drive

Slave auctions in this Civil War Centennial Year?

It can—and does—happen here, with the flower of American youth on the block.

But in this century, there's a difference. Now it's all in a good cause. Members of the New March of Dimes Teen Age Program (TAP) auction their services to the highest bidder among local merchants. The money goes to support The National Foundation—March of Dimes attack on birth defects, arthritis and polio.

It's all part of TAP members' lively approach to volunteer community service. They also sponsor walkathons (shades of the Thirties!) in which teams from rival schools move toward the finish line as dimes are contributed. They dance for dimes at casual sock hops and formal balls, man concessions at school sports events, and hold community car washes.

Through such ingenious fun-for-funds projects, TAPs raised nearly three-quarters of a million dollars during the 1961 March of Dimes.

For the 1962 New March of Dimes in January, tens of thousands of the youthful volunteers are literally "on TAP." In more than 75 per cent of The National Foundation's 3,100 local county chapters, active TAP committees are determined to hit new highs in fun as well as funds.

Adult advisors who work with TAPs point out that underlying the outward frivolity of the teenagers' projects is a deep awareness of the need for increased research and progress in the fight against crippling birth defects, arthritis and polio. During the year, many youngsters assist in local patient services by reading to disabled children, writing letters for severely crippled arthritics or working as hospital aides.

A prime year-round responsibility of TAP members is distribution of information about National Foundation Health Scholarships to students in high schools and colleges. Each year, more than 500 four-year scholarships with a full value of $2,000 apiece are offered for study in medicine, nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy and medical social work. TAP members know the desperate need to reduce the shortage of manpower in the health professions by encouraging students to undertake careers in these fields. Leader of the Teen Age Program for the 1962 New March of Dimes is national chairman Katherine Anne Keith, 18, of Columbia, Mo. Blonde, brainy and born to be busy, Katie will handle her major responsibilities as top TAP while she pursues an ambitious freshman schedule at the University of Missouri.

TOP TEEN—Katherine Anne (Katie) Keith, 18, of Columbia, Mo., has her hands full as newly-appointed chairman of the 1962 New March of Dimes Teen Age Program (TAP).

On the basis of past performance, juggling scholarship and volunteer service won't intimidate Katie. She was 1961 Missouri state TAP chairman during her strenuous senior year in high school. Under her leadership, Missouri TAPs showed record gains in membership, services to chapters and funds raised for the March of Dimes.

At the same time, Katie maintained grades that ranked her third in her graduating class of almost 300 students. She was a National Merit Scholarship finalist and received the Kiwanis Good Citizenship award. She was business manager—and occasional sports writer—for the school paper, treasurer of the National Honor Society, queen of the major social function of the school year, had a lead role in the school play, "Teahouse of the August Moon," and actively participated in math, history, English and French clubs.

She also teaches a Sunday School class at Missouri Methodist Church in Columbia. After a summer in Europe, including study at the Sorbonne in Paris, the energetic Katie began to plan for a banner year of TAP activity for the March of Dimes. "Teenagers who are looking for a sense of satisfaction along with fun and friendship are missing a bet if they don't check TAP activities in their local March of Dimes chapters," she said. "A TAP committee isn't just another youth organization—it's not merely a club to serve youth. Instead, it gives us an opportunity to serve our communities."
